OBITUARY

Cordrey—Thomas L. Cordrey, age 44, passed away at the Schneck Memorial hospital, Seymour, Thursday morning at 6 o'clock, where he was taken Tuesday night, July 2, and had undergone an operation for a ruptured appendix. Death was due to complications. He had been in failing health for two years.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Clyde Black, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial in Fairview cemetery.

Mr. Cordrey, the son of Thomas and Mary Jane Cordrey, both deceased, was born in Indianapolis February 28, 1896, and at the age of five years he moved to Alhambra, Calif., with his parents. On March 22, 1930, he was married at Alhambra to Miss Gertrude Lucas of Brownstown. They continued to reside at Alhambra until 1932, when they moved to Brownstown. He served as town marshal for several years, but resigned because of ill health. He was of a kind and jovial disposition, a good neighbor and friend and was always ready to lend a helping hand in sickness and distress. He was a member of the Methodist church and a life member of Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

Besides the widow he is survived by one daughter, Marjory Faye, at home. He is also survived by three brothers, Everett and Roy Cordrey, both of California, and Willard Cordrey, of Indianapolis.
