Mrs. C. Max Cribb, Brownstown, Dies

3-176 6-3-1950

Mrs. Ruby Cribb, 60, wife of C. Max Cribb, secretary of the Brownstown Loan and Trust Company and a prominent Brownstown resident, died Friday night at the home in Brownstown. She had been ill for three and one-half years and had been seriously ill for more than a year.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock (DST) Sunday afternoon from the Winklepleck Funeral Home, Brownstown, with the Rev. Walter N. Zenah, of Aurora, and the Rev. Robert Crosby, of Columbia City, former pastors of the Brownstown Presbyterian Church, in charge. Burial in Fairview Cemetery, Brownstown.

Friends may call at the Winklepleck Funeral Home at Brownstown after 6 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Cribb was born February 21, 1890, on a farm near Brownstown, the daughter of the late Louis and Christina ~~Doerr~~ Gossman. She spent her entire life in that area and was graduated from the Brownstown High School with the class of 1908. She attended teachers' college at Madison, Wis., and taught school in and near Brownstown for several years. On November 29, 1914, she was married at Brownstown to C. Max Cribb, who survives.

She was a member and very active in the Brownstown Presbyterian Church and was active in missionary circles and Parent-Teacher organizations until her health failed. She had been a member of the library board for 18 years and was very prominent in social circles until her failing health curtailed her activity. A member of one of the most prominent families in Brownstown, she is mourned by a wide circle of friends.

Besides the husband, she is survived by two sons, Robert L. Cribb, publisher of the Gas City Journal, newspaper at Gas City, Indiana, and Thomas P. Cribb, of Roanoke, Va.; a brother, George Gossman, Brownstown R2; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, of Brownstown, and Mrs. Alberta Cunningham, Crothersville R1, and two grandchildren.
