A young Brownstown father of two small daughters, who would not have been 21 years old until next month met a tragic death shortly before 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning.

Danny Ray Delph, who lived at 912 South Main street, was killed when a station wagon, under which he was working to remove a part, slipped off the jack and fell on him, crushing his chest.

The accident happened at the farm home of his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robison. The body was found by Mr. Delph's brother-in-law, Stanley Robison.

According to County Coroner Keith Burkholder, death was caused from suffocation, due to a crushed chest.

Funeral rites were held Monday afternoon from the Brownstown United Methodist Church, with services in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Staten E. Lightfoot, and the Rev. Clarence Killion, pastor of the Acme United Methodist Church. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Delph was born October 19, 1950, in East Bernstadt, Kentucky, a son of Walter and Jean Allen Delph, who live near the Honeytown bridge. He moved to this area with his parents when two years of age.

On September 1, 1968, he was married in Brownstown to Gerda Elise Robison, who survives, as do the two small daughters, Michelle Lynn, two, and eight-month-old Elise Leanne.

Also surviving are a brother, Randall Delph, and two sisters, Carolyn and Cheryl Delph, at home.

He was graduated from Brownstown Central High School in 1968, and was employed at the Cummins Engine Company, Columbus, and was a member of the Acme United Methodist Church.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Winklepleck-Weesner Funeral Home here.

The family asks that memorials be given the Brownstown United Methodist Church build-
