Mrs. Dullie Hopson, Of Ewing, Succumbs

Mrs. Dullie Hopson, 58, of Ewing, died late Tuesday afternoon at Schneck Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted Friday night after suddenly becoming ill while attending revival services at the Rock of Light Church, in Brownstown, of which she was a very active member.

Mrs. Hopson had returned with her husband to Ewing for the weekend from Indianapolis, where the couple had recently moved into a new trailer in a trailer court at 6200 Brookville Road to reside this winter while Mr. Hopson was employed in Indianapolis.

Born June 4, 1898, in Washburn, Tenn., Mrs. Hopson was the daughter of John and Phoebe Majors Arnwine, both of whom preceded her in death. She was married August 5, 1932, in Middlesburg, Ky., to Roy Hopson, and they moved to Jackson county 10 years ago, having made their home in Ewing since that time.

Survivors in addition to the husband include six daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Lucy Wilson and Mrs. Laura Kilgore, of Ewing; Mrs. Betty Buster, of this city; Mrs. Hazel Travis, of New Albany; Mrs. Faustine Butler, of this city; and Mrs. Barthine Ryan, of Ewing. The son is Lester Ward, of this city, who is at sea with the U. S. Navy.

Also surviving are four brothers: Jim Majors, of Washington, D. C.; Claude Majors, of Morristown, Tenn.; Sam Majors, of Ranger county, Tenn.; and Atstiff Majors, of Knoxville, Tenn. Two sisters, Mrs. Eldor Arnwine and Mrs. Sally Collins, both of Knoxville, Tenn., also survive, along with 16 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending word from the son in the Navy, but the rites will be conducted from the Rock of Light Church, with the Rev. Raymond Gaiter, pastor, in charge, and burial will follow in Fairview Cemetery, Brownstown.

Friends may call after 7 p.m., DST, tonight at the Hopson family home on West Spring street, Brownstown.
