McNiece—Mrs. Lucy C. McNiece, age 82, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Forgey, five miles north of Brownstown, Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock following an illness of five years.

Funeral services were conducted at the Surprise Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of Dr. A. A. Cohn, pastor of the Seymour Baptist church, assisted by Rev. L. L. Johnson, pastor of the Vallonia Methodist church. Burial in Fairview cemetery, Brownstown.

Mrs. McNiece was born near Hayden April 22, 1862, the daughter of Albert and Mary Ann Young Whitcomb. On September 2, 1891, she was married at Hayden to William A. McNiece, who preceded her in death. After their marriage they moved to Jackson county, where she spent the remainder of her life. For some time she lived in Seymour where she was a member of the Baptist church and took an active part in church work as long as her health permitted. She was well known and leaves many friends.

Besides the daughter with whom she made her home she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Ray Jackson, of Indianapolis; a son, Guy W. McNiece, of Pleasant Grove; a brother, Howard P. Whitcomb, and a sister, Miss Emma Whitcomb, both of Seymour, and eleven grandchildren also survive. Six grandsons are in the service, four of whom are overseas.
