Reynolds Youth, Unconscious For Four Months, Dies

Ronald Reynolds, seventeen-year-old Brownstown youth, died at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis, where he had been in a coma since he was admitted on July 3 for treatment of injuries suffered in an automobile accident two days before.

The accident occurred on July 1 on U. S. Highway 31, two miles south of Edinburg when the automobile in which young Reynolds was riding, collided with the rear of a cement-mixer truck. Also injured were Paul Hurley, 21, of Seymour, who suffered a fractured leg, and Tommy Martin, of Brownstown, who was badly bruised. All three were admitted to Bartholomew County Hospital, Columbus, and young Reynolds was transferred from there to the Methodist Hospital.

He was completely paralysed and only once during the more than four-month period did he show any signs of recognizing his mother and other members of his family, some of whom remained at his bedside constantly for weeks.

Young Reynolds was born in Medora on May 12, 1926, a son of Alga Mae Goodpasture Reynolds and the late Orville Reynolds. He attended Brownstown high school and was well known among young people in this community. Shortly before his accident he had enlisted with the Indiana National Guards and received his discharge while at the hospital.

Surviving in addition to the mother are five brothers, Richard Reynolds, of Seymour; Glenn Reynolds, who is serving with the United States Army in Korea and who was given an emergency furlough after his brother's accident; James Reynolds, also living in Seymour and twin brothers, Raymond and Daymond, of Brownstown; and two sisters, Mrs. George Rochner and Mrs. Charles Jackson, both living in Brownstown.

Funeral rites were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Zabel Funeral Home here in charge of Gene Dulin, Brownstown Christian Church pastor. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.
