Comment:

APPLEWHITE—Henry Applewhite, of Goss Mill, whose illness has been mentioned in these columns, died Monday, June 10, 1907, of complication of diseases, at a hospital in Indianapolis, where he had gone for treatment. Deceased was about 58 years of age. He was one of Owen township's most prominent farmers and was a well-known and highly respected citizen of the county. He was a son of Judge Ralph Applewhite, deceased, and a brother of the late Jas. F. Applewhite, and was the last member of that family. He is survived by his wife and six children, viz: Mrs. August Pferrer, of Brownstown; Mrs. C. A. Branaman, of Bedford; Mrs. John James, of Danville, Ills.; Mrs. Walter Fountain, of Brownstown township; John and Tom, who lived at home. The remains were brought home Tuesday. Funeral services were held at the family residence today at one o'clock, Eld. G. M. Shatts officiating, followed by interment in Fairview cemetery at this place.
