Mrs. O. S. Brooke, 86, Buried at Brownstown

Burial services were conducted Sunday afternoon at Fairview Cemetery, Brownstown, for Mrs. O. S. Brooke, 86, a former resident of Brownstown and a former teacher in the Seymour city public schools. The Rev. Gene Dulin, pastor of the Brownstown Christian Church, was in charge.

Mrs. Brooke, who had lived in St. Louis for several years, died early Saturday at St. Louis. She had been ill for a number of years.

Her husband, who preceded her in death, was a Christian minister who preached in this area while residing at Brownstown and also was president of the Brownstown National Bank and was a county official a number of years ago. Mrs. Brooke was formerly Miss Mamie Price and taught in the Seymour schools before her marriage. Many friends here mourn her death.

She is survived by one son, Dr. Collin F. Brooke, of St. Louis, a half-sister residing in Washington state, two grandsons and eight great grandchildren. Several nieces and nephews also survive. A son, Price, preceded her in death.
