Comment:

In all his undertakings he brought to bear intelligent method and untiring energy and industry. And although, not a member of any Church organization, he was a firm believer in the Christian religion, and an earnest and generous supporter of all the Churches of the community in which he lived.

His private character was without blemish, and his voice was always heard on the side of morality. He was frank, kind-hearted and generous, a firm friend, a kind and loving husband and father. As a Judge he had few equals. As a Lawyer, he was faithful to his clients, a good companion and a faithful friend. He was a sound lawyer, patient in research, broad in his views, conscientious, upright and fearless.

He departed this life, at his residence in Brownstown, Indiana, on the 26th day of January, 1894, and in his death the community has lost a valuable citizen, the Bar a courteous member and his children a kind and loving father.

Resolved, That we tender to the family, of our departed Brother, our sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

Resolved, That a copy of this memoir and these resolutions be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That this memoir and these resolutions be presented to the Jackson Circuit Court, for such actions as may be fit and appropriate.

MAY IT PLEASE THE COURT:

Hon. Frank Emerson, a member of the Bar of this court, and ex-Judge of this court, departed this life Jan. 26th, 1894, at his home in Brownstown, Indiana. In view of this sad event and pursuant to your Hons. order, appointing the undersigned committee to draft an appropriate memorial and resolutions, we have given a brief outline of Judge Frank Emerson's private and official life, and express the high appreciation of the members of the Bar, for his character, and public services.

It was our fortune to know Judge Frank Emerson intimately and to love and appreciate him as a neighbor, and as a member of this bar.

He was a man of strong and positive convictions, and of active, earnest and persistent effort, seeking to know the right and pursuing it with an unswerving purpose.

We move the Court that the memorial and resolutions be spread upon its record.
