Comment: Daughter of Marinda & Washington Hogg

Death of a Little Girl.

Again has the death messenger entered the family of Elder Washington Hogg, this time bearing away their little daughter Rebecca. She breathed her last last Friday, at the age of six years. She had been a sufferer several years, although for some time previous to her late illness enjoyed comparatively fair health. Her ailment was bronchitis, intensified by an attack of the measles, resulting fatally. In the great affliction which has fallen upon them, Mr. Hogg and family have the heartfelt sympathy of our people generally.
