Mrs. Rose Jackson Dies Near Freetown

Mrs. Rose Jackson, age eighty-four, a life-long resident of Jackson county, died early Monday morning at her home on a Freetown rural route, about two miles south of Freetown on State Road 135, following a critical illness of about a week's duration. She had been in failing health for about twelve years.

Mrs. Jackson was born on December 2, 1859, in this county, the daughter of James and Minerva Allen, both of whom preceded her in death. On August 4, 1886, she was married, also in this county, to Sherman Jackson, who survives.

An active member of the Freetown United Brethren Church as long as her health permitted, Mrs. Jackson taught a Sunday School class of elderly women in the church for many years. In her younger days she taught school in this county and she was widely-known and highly respected throughout the Freetown vicinity. A host of friends join with relatives in mourning her death.

Survivors include, in addition to the husband, two sons, Ray Jackson and Clifford Jackson, both of Indianapolis; one brother, Sherman Allen, of Brownstown; and two sisters; Mrs. Anna McKain and Mrs. Clyde McCrary, both of Brownstown.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the Brownstown town Methodist Church, with the Rev. Frank Templin in charge. Burial in Fairview Cemetery, at Brownstown.

Friends may call at the Jackson home at any time.
